Progress since last visit

On a sunny October day, a large group of S1-S3 School Representative Council members visited the new school site, thanks to Sean and Mark for showing us around. New members were very impressed with the school so far and were keen to ask questions and see both outside and inside the school.

Cladding on South side of school

More of the wood cladding is up now and it looks great! The wood will turn a silvery gray over time and the group thought this would look good with the metal window frames.

Opaque glass and windows going up on the outside frame, which is called a 'curtain wall'

The join can be seen on the left

Mark explained to the group how the school is like two buildings joined together. The reason for this is due to the sheer size of the school. There is a special 'join' in the middle which allows the two buildings to 'move'.

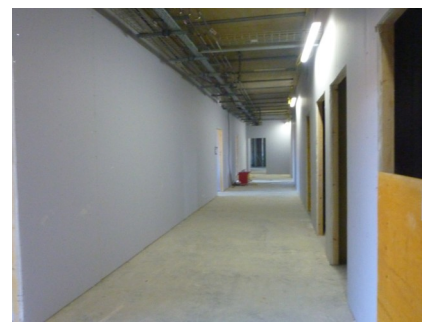

An unfinished corridor

Inside the school the plasterboard is still going up. It is double thickness between the classroom walls.

The roof is being finished and the north side of the school is being made wind and water-tight.

We were shown the space for the canteen and where the seating for lunch will be.

Looking down into the atrium

New members of the group loved the atrium as it reminded them of 'high school musical'
