

Skye, Lochalsh and South West Ross Community Hospital

New Community Hospital project starts on site Monday 19 August 2019

Balfour Beatty are soon to commence the construction phase to deliver the new Skye, Lochalsh and South West Ross Community Hospital and Health care centre based in Broadford. Balfour Beatty will construct a new 24 bed facility which, on completion, will provide in-patient and X-ray services for the Skye community.

Balfour Beatty was appointed as main contractor for the delivery of these works following close collaboration with hub North Scotland & NHS Highland throughout the 18-month preconstruction phase ensuring the provision of the most cost-effective and high-quality design solution.

The main access route to the site compound for deliveries will be via Pairc nan craobh.

Project completion is scheduled for Spring 2021.

“At Balfour Beatty, we are deeply committed to bringing value to the communities in which we operate”

Hector MacAulay
Regional Managing Director of Scotland and Ireland

Community E-Newsletter

This will be updated regularly during project delivery. To view updates including progress photographs and community engagement activities, please scan the following QR code:

Project feedback

If you have any comments on the project during our time on site, please contact john.cairns2@balfourbeatty.com

